HRIS can Rely on Tracker Corp for I-9 and E-Verify Software Integration and Compliance

New Compliance and API Functionality Continues to Make Tracker I-9 A Leading Industry Solution

SAN FRANCISCO, CA – July 13, 2009 – Tracker Corp, provider of the immigration management software used by 75% of top-rated immigration law firms and many Fortune 1000 companies, today announced general availability of the latest version of Tracker I-9 software. New key features include a powerful custom reporting tool, one-click E-Verify, more data protection options, and a flexible application programming interface (API) which enables integration with major ERP and HRIS systems that support the HR-XML consortium specification.

Tracker I-9 continues to stand out as the industry's most legally compliant software, owing to its in-house legal staff, including attorney John Fay and one of the "Nation's Top 10 Immigration Lawyers" as rated by HR Executive Magazine last month (Tracker Corp Co-Founder Julie Pearl). With every release, Tracker I-9 proves that efficiency and compliance are not mutually exclusive when it comes to verifying work authorization of new hires. This focus on continuous productivity improvements and up-to-the-minute compliance with all government guidelines means Tracker I-9 is at the top of every vendor list.

"Tracker Corp leads the way with technology enhancements to simplify the secure, real-time integration with leading payroll, ERP and recruiting software packages, which lower both cost and risk to drive HR adoption," said Fred Colman, founder and President of Tracker Corp. "We have listened to our customers and have added many features that make it easier to roll out Tracker I-9 across an entire organization to gain instant compliance with the ever-changing rules around employment eligibility verification, something that effects every organization in the United States."

New Features and Benefits of Tracker I-9 include:

- Custom reports user interface provides the ultimate in employee reporting flexibility
- One-click E-Verify saves time by submitting completed I-9s instantly for online verification
- Social security numbers are checked for duplicates automatically to prevent mistakes and detect fraud
- Employers can add and remove worksites and user accounts and configure E-Verify usage options via a self-service control panel
